This page shows you how to compose source objects to create a composite object. You can compose up to 32 source objects in a single request. For general information about object composition, see Composite objects (/storage/docs/composite-objects).

ant: The source objects are unaffected by the composition process. If they are meant to be temporary, you must del /storage/docs/deleting-objects) once you've successfully completed the composition.

To create a composite object:

- Learn more about object composition (/storage/docs/composite-objects).
- View object metadata (/storage/docs/viewing-editing-metadata) to get the component count of a composite object.
