

Link aggregation is the bundling of multiple network interfaces (NIC) into a single link, which allows maximum data throughput and redundancy in case of a network connection failure. Set up link aggregation when you configure Transfer Appliance to increase throughput beyond the capabilities of a single connection and shorten the data capture process.

Transfer Appliance uses NIC bonding mode 6, which provides adaptive load balancing.

- Configuring link aggregation \(/transfer-appliance/docs/2.0/setting-up-link-aggregation\)